

Reach quality candidates on job boards you trust

Lever empowers your company to take a thoughtful approach to using job boards, driving quality applicants from the boards you already know and trust.

Target top job boards

Lever enables you to post jobs to any board that works for your company and your roles. Post on boards where you know you can reach top candidates, and generate quality applicants.

Boost your brand with one click

With one-click posting to LinkedIn, Glassdoor, and Indeed, quickly and easily promote your roles and your company brand on the most popular job boards.

Track your posting progress

A great recruiting strategy requires you to know where your best candidates come from. Use Lever's reporting to determine job board success by role and refine your posting strategy, so you drive the highest quality candidates to your open jobs.

Save time with bulk posting

Need all your job postings pushed to a board, but have too many to post one by one? With our XML feed, all your open roles can be posted to the boards of your choice at once.